FOXWELL ENERGY CORPORATION LTD.

Foxwell Energy Corporation of HSE Policy

Foxwell Energy Corporation is committed to establishing and maintaining health, safety, and environmental conservation and protection as part of our business endeavors. We strive to fulfill social responsibilities and are willing to share these visions with all of our partners. On this premise, we expect our colleagues, business associates, and (sub)contractors to embrace these core concepts: "Protection of the Earth; Sustainable Development; Carbon Reduction via Green Energy; and Clean Energy." We would also like our partners to honor the following obligations:

Execution of risk management mechanisms

All activities must fulfill a risk management mechanism with the prevention of occupational injuries and environmental protection as priority considerations. We continue to improve our performance goals in safety, health, and environmental protection.

 Compliance with regulations and requirements ***

All work on planning, design, procurement, construction, operation, and maintenance shall comply with relevant laws in regards to safety, health and environmental protection as required by the government and international standards.

 Focus on staff training and encouraging participation

All colleagues and (sub)contractors should be encouraged to actively participate in safety, health and environmental protection training, seminar and conferences, and provide advice on safety, health and environmental protection matters.

 Creating the value of a green economy

We will promote environmental protection while creating a green economic cycle through information transparency, construction methods that reduce environmental impact, and thorough communication and coordination. Meanwhile, we will also continue our efforts to increase employment opportunities.
